WORKPLACE LAW STRATEGIES BLOG:
EMPLOYERS BEWARE - POTENTIAL FUTURE
VIOLATION OF ESA COULD RENDER
EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT UNENFORCEABLE

In his most recent Workplace Law Strategies Blog post, Harper Grey lawyer, Neal Parker, discusses a recent case where the Ontario Superior Court of Justice found that a termination provision was unenforceable because it would violate Ontario's Employment Standards Act if the employee's role changed or the employer grew in size.
