EXPERTISE

Health Law

Jemma joined Harper Grey in 2020, bringing a wealth of experience to her role. Originally from the United Kingdom, Jemma graduated with a LLB First Class Honours Law degree and an LLM in Transitional Justice and Human Rights. Three years ago, she moved to Vancouver and has gained Canadian experience working with a global firm in Specialty Litigation.

In her current capacity, Jemma works closely with the Health Law Group's lawyers providing paralegal support in all aspects of the organization and management of files.

Jemma is also a director and voting member of the British Columbia Paralegal Association (BCPA).

Outside of the office, Jemma is an accomplished musician and enjoys teaching the bagpipes.
